

Laboratories

Written by WVSU Medical Center

The Laboratory Department provides an essential service for patient care; research and training activities of the hospital's patient care programs. Laboratory testing is critical to all aspects of medical care throughout the institution. As such, the laboratory is committed to providing high quality, cost effective, clinically relevant and timely diagnostic services to all of its patients and clients.